What is Astrology?

Astrology works on the concept that what happens in the sky above, provides energy to be used in our lives down on Earth. “As Above – So Below”. We have free will to use that energy in the manner we decide. If we are unconscious of it’s existence we will tend to experience it as fate or destiny in the form of external events and relationships happening to us. However when we are conscious of what is coming, we can use the energy to optimize our experiences and integrate our lessons, enhancing our individuation or self-developmental journey to enlightenment. It is only when we know what changes need to be made, but resist making them, through fear, or wishing to hang onto our current circumstances, that the stress comes out more physically as dis-ease or injury in our bodies.

You can find computer generated charts and reports available free of charge or for a minimal charge, on the internet, or at New Age Expos and festivals from a myriad of other sources. In these the position of each point or planetary body in your chart will be described, along with each individual connection it makes with another planet. These points are dealt with in isolation, whereas in an interactive consultation with a professional astrologer, your chart is examined as a complete entity and the various aspects and characteristics are combined together to describe your potential the way it exists as an integrated being. Around one hour needs to be allowed for most astrology consultations, they take the form of a two-way discussion .

This will be recorded and burnt onto a CD as a MP3 audio file in addition to your booklet of charts and reports.

An accurate birth time is needed to create the chart structure which pin points more exactly which areas of your life and development, are likely to be impacted by the planetary energies. If an accurate birth time is not known, this can be determined through tracking the positions of the slower moving outer planets, against the timing of significant events from your life. This process is called Rectification, and is performed by you first completing a questionnaire which Sara uses to create a chart for your date and location of birth, which works across your life. The Natal reading outlines the life blueprint or potential from the position of the stars at birth. It gives deep insight into your possible strengths and challenges as well as the kind of relationships you are likely to experience throughout your life. It can also be extremely useful in selecting an appropriate career or vocation.

As the stars continue to orbit the sun in the sky they transit or trigger different points in your natal chart bringing different energy to be experienced in a variety of ways. The Transits and Progressions reading examines a period of over a year from the current time to assist in self-development and growth. It takes into account transits, progressions and directions, such as Solar Arc and Solar Return. This can be offered as an annual update usually focused around the birthday.

An Evolutionary reading places special emphasis on past life and life purpose aspects of the Natal chart, through examining the Lunar Nodes and their connections in depth. As well as the traditional luminaries and planets in the sky, there are intuitive asteroids and Fixed Stars which add an additional dimension to the interpretation of these points. The emotions and learned behaviours you have brought forward with you from past lives will be revealed!, along with ways to convert these into your meaningful life purpose, during this lifetime

Astro-Mythology readings examine the placement of specific asteroids in association to your natal chart and observe any interesting transits or progressions that may eventuate in the near future. Sara is undertaking extensive research in this area and found interesting correspondences in the charts of individuals working with their intuitive abilities such as oracular practices, astrology, healing, psychology and working in tune with Mother Earth or animals.

Sara can also offer guidance on the best timing for events, such as marriage or opening a business using a technique called Electional astrology.

Astrology is a priceless gift, which enables you to become conscious of your full potential and plan forward using the cycles of the celestial bodies to fully optimize your future.
