What is Numerology?

Greek philosopher Pythagoras established around 500 BC that all numbers vibrate with a different energy. He believed every thing in the cosmos, including letters, was related to numbers. He developed the practice of numerology based on the harmonics of the numbers involved at an individual's birth, relating the impact of those numbers to the development of their soul.

Numerology builds from a belief that a soul reincarnates over many lifetimes to learn lessons in exercising it's free will.....

Parents name their child in reaction to the vibration felt from the child's higher self. The soul selects a child with the right set of numbers, to enable it to take on the lessons it wishes to evolve through, in this life-time.

As such, some numbers may have karma overtones attached to them which require special attention to be overcome.

The harmonic at which any number is expressed, can vibrate in a manner that is balanced, or that over or under expresses the associated energy. An experienced numerologist is able to blend the many numbers in the client's make up, to determine how well they integrate together and suggest some courses of action which may help the client optimize their self-developmental journey through life.
